Major General John B. Marks, U.S. Air Force
Assistant Chief of Staff for Intelligence
Department of the Air Force
Washington, D.C. 20330

Dear John:

As you plan to move on to your next assignment, I would like to thank you for your valuable contributions to the National Foreign Intelligence Board and Council.

The quality of the National Foreign Intelligence Program and significant improvements in the national intelligence estimative process over the past two years reflect in no small way your sound advice and assistance. I am pleased that the Intelligence Community will continue to profit from your valuable service from your new vantage point with the Electronic Security Command.

Please accept my gratitude and sincere best wishes for success in your new endeavor.

Sincerely,

William J. Casey

John - I have highly valued and greatly benefited from the many sharp insights you provided at our talks. It's also been a pleasure

John,

As you prepare to depart for your next assignment, I would like to thank you for your outstanding contribution to this country's intelligence mission.

I have greatly appreciated our frank yet always constructive discussions on intelligence topics. You have done a first-rate job of mustering total cooperation from the Air Force while, at the same time, steadfastly representing their needs. You should take pride in having been a key contributor to the overall intelligence product, as it has become an increasingly valued tool to policymakers.

All the best to you at the ESC.

Sincerely,

John N. McMahon

General Charles A. Gabriel
Chief of Staff, U.S. Air Force
Washington, D.C. 20301

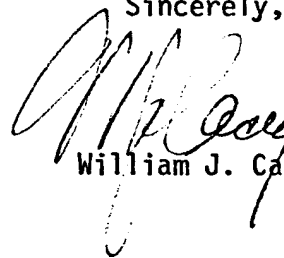

Dear General Gabriel:

On the occasion of the reassignment of Major General John M. Marks to the Air Force Electronic Security Command, I would like to note both the Intelligence Community's and my own personal appreciation and gratitude for his valuable contributions and close cooperation during the last two years.

The quality of the National Foreign Intelligence Program and significant improvements in the national intelligence estimative process reflect in no small way General Marks' sound advice and assistance. His timely and creative support has also enhanced our collection of important intelligence from valuable new sources.

I am pleased that the Intelligence Community will still be able to profit from General Marks' valuable service from his new vantage point with the ESC. John McMahon joins me in wishing him all the best in this new endeavor.

Sincerely,

William J. Casey
